WEEKLY* EDITION

The official newspaper of Yellow Springs High School

All Memory of Class Discussion Erased by Touching Tale from Last Week on Oprah

In a recent English class the conversation was successfully diverted from various forms of poetry to the plight of the working class with the mention of last week's Oprah.

Newspaper Not Shrinking

MATT HALM & DAVID SUZEL

Allay your fears, faithful readers. The newspaper is not shrinking before your very eyes. This issue is simply smaller because this week there is only school on Monday and Tuesday, so you will obviously have less time to read the issue. Therefore the issue was made smaller so that you could have time to read it all.

To make up for not having the regular number of pages, we have sprinkled a few magical coupons on this page that should raise your holiday spirits. And as an added bonus, you can cut them out and not ruin your newspaper since there's nothing printed on the back!

Have a happy holiday. Or not. The choice is yours.

Do You Remember Back Then?

MATT HALM

Do you remember Matt Latta? Don't act like you don't know the name. He used to be just another Yellow Springs High School student; he walked the halls just like every one of us. He was from the city of the clutch, and the music there was screwed up.

But now he's hit it big.

Matt remembers back then. "They didn't want me, but now that I'm more popular they're all on me. I said back then they didn't want me but now I'm hot and they're all on me. They saw me in the club and they used to treat me like a scrub. They see that I'm a star and now they want to sit in my car. Before the ice was in my grill and before I got my major deal they didn't care if I was ill."

When asked what led him to such successfulness, Matt indicated "Michael Watts made me hot and then hard work took me to the top."

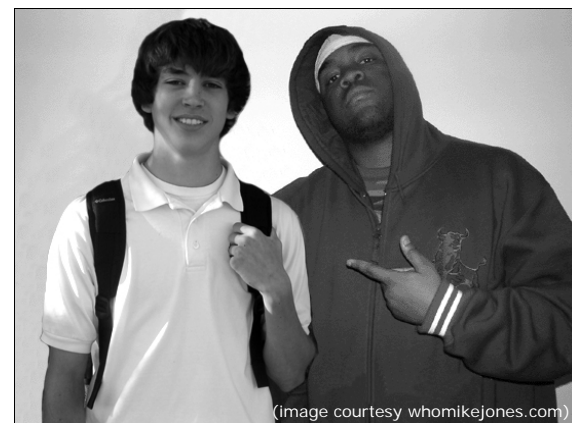

Matt hopes to combine his passion for fine arts and moonlit concertos with the flexibility of the rap scene. He plans to move to Texas so he can continue to "jam great tapes in that Lone Star state."

When asked if he had the rap game sewed up, Matt affirmed that he did. He went on to say "937 371 4175, that's the number, you can hit me up. When you call ask for Matt Latta. Also check out the website, whomattlatta.com."

Mike Jones was unavailable for comment, but

Matt said they were planning to release an album together in "a few months." It is expected to go platinum a few weeks after it drops.

In closing Matt said, "Anything illegal you know I'm flip. Diamonds shine from behind my lip."
